A CHURCH IN THE AIR.
From the Hartford (Conn.) Courant.

Once wandering through the land of dreams, In search of something new, A church—I was told—on Sabbath morn— My curious notice drew: And thinking I should see the mode Of Christian worship there, I entered just in time to hear The closing hymn and prayer.

And when the hymn was given out, With what astonishment I saw, I watched a lady clad in silk Bend forward from her place, To share her book with one whose robes So scanty were and mean, No maiden formed of earthly mould To greet her would be seen.

And yet I saw not that the deed Lessened a single grace, But rather that a sweeter look Beamed on the maiden's face. And while I pondered in my mind, How much a thing could be, The whole assembly joined to sing Some time-worn melody.

And yet the music of the choir Right pleasant was to hear, Though nothing in the strain I found To please a critic's ear. But childhood joined its ringing tones With those of matronly years. And rich, and poor, and old, and young In that best work engage.

And here no fashionable airs, The tedium to beguile, Are set to solemn hymns of praise, And sung in opera style. And well, I thought, the church of God This mockery might well despise. I ceased—for every head was bowed In reverent prayer.

And all it seemed to me to join, Nor could I well forbear, For Christ, and not the minister, Was most apparent there. His words of charity and love Did the whole world embrace, Unfettered by the love of sect, That modern churchmen share.

And little did I care to know If the School or New, From whence the soul of such a man Rich instruction drew, His teacher none could well mistake; 'One only can impart Lessons of wisdom that can guide A sinful human heart.

Too soon that fervent prayer was o'er, The benediction asked, And slowly down the spacious aisles The congregation passed. Slowly, as one might turn his back Upon the gates of heaven, After a taste of angel's food 'Till his soul was given.

And now kind greetings were exchanged, With many a friendly word, And Christians met as Christians should, Who serve one common Lord. One heart, one mind, one earnest will Seemed to inspire the whole, As friends to friend with freedom told The welfare of his soul.

Strange, though it seem, no single word These curious scenes inspired, Of "politics," or "rise in stocks," Or gossip of the day. Not only did they "shout up shop," And lock the office door, They turned the key on worldly thought, Till holy time was o'er.

The sermon, while a group discussed, I listened in amazement, And marvelled at the words they used, When speaking in the pulpit. "Ingenious," "wise," "smart," Or "thank their stars they had a man After the people's heart."

But whispered low, with moistened eyes, How precious was the word; How full of hope the promises, Their strengthened souls had heard; And murmured blessings on his head, Who labored by their side, In all simplicity and truth, Preached Christ the crucified.

I heard, and could not silence keep, "Thrice happy souls," I said, "With sudden start 'Am I a heathen?' Who the path of my eyes I opened wide— Looked round a world of white men— Saw my mistake with pain, And never since have dared to take A nap in church again."

San Bernardino Items.
[From the Times, March 24th.]

Some individuals broke into Pratt & Hurd's store last night by picking the lock and abstracting some ten dollars worth of goods. There were $200 in money in the store at the time, of which it is supposed they were aware, but fortunately they were unable to discover it.

Mr. Joseph Voshay has just returned from a prospecting trip and brings in 1,500 pounds of free gold quartz which will assay fabulously. He states that there is an immense ledge of the same kind, situated in the desert about 150 miles east of here and not more than 70 miles from the terminus of the railroad with good road the whole distance.

A valuable horse of Mr. D. Rathbun's for which he refused $300 a few days since, escaped from the yard where he was kept and was discovered afterwards with a wound from which he shortly died. A committee of veterinary surgeons made a post-mortem examination of him and concluded that he was shot. Who the perpetrators of the dastardly act were is unknown, but if discovered they will

SUNDAY.....MARCH. 26, 1876.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The Prince of Wales has reached Suez on his way home from India.

A steamer load of works of art from France for the Centennial Exhibition, has reached Philadelphia.

The Post Tradebury business is still occupying the War Expedition Committee. The more it is investigated the worse it looks.

Gen. Cook and command are safe. He telegraphs from Reno to General Sheridan that he has had a hard time, but is all right.

Ex-Empress Eugenie and son have arrived at Bismarck, en route for Weimar. They visited Weimar on Thursday.

In the House of Lords to-night, the Royal title bill passed its first reading.

A Madrid dispatch reports recruiting for Cuba actively progressing. Soldiers who served under Don Carlos are allowed to enlist.

The American Minister to Mexico will receive instruction from this government to use his good offices in the interest of the preservation of peace in that country.

It is gratifying to know that the Republicans of the United States Senate have gone into the investigation business. They have passed a resolution to investigate insects injurious to vegetation. Among the suspected are the locust, the chinch-bug, the army worm, the Hessian fly and the potato bug.

OUR farmers continue to report the most gratifying crop prospects. In the vicinity of Compton and down toward Santa Monica the grain is very luxuriant. In the San Jose valley the rye and barley promise a better harvest than has been realized for years. The fields of San Fernando valley are covered with waving grain, and a good crop is assured. There will be more grain harvested in this valley this year than in any two previous years within the last decade.

"THE country's shame," heads the leading article in a number of our contemporaries of late, and the person but recently setting foot on these shores would be justified in the conclusion that the great Republic had but just discovered that the party ruling her affairs for the past fifteen years was made up of knaves and rascals who vied with each other in the task of trying which could steal the most. This is a mistake. The virtuous spasm which is just now disturbing the happiness of a great many Republican journals is likely to lead the new comer into error. This stealing is no new thing. It has been going on for eight years at least, and what is more, the papers now bemoaning "the country's shame," were as well aware of the fact during GRANT's first term as now. It is the exposure the Democrats are making that is producing the rattling among the dry bones.

Wife Beaters.

Some of our people are blubbering because Senator ROACH's bill to punish wife beaters at the public whipping post has become a law. We are sorry to see them take it so hard. There are thirty odd States, however, that they can emigrate to if this law oppresses them. We have no doubt there will be a considerable exodus of wife beaters from this State very soon. We can bear the departure of all such with great Christian fortitude. Of all the crimes that men are guilty of, there are none so dastardly and cruel as that of beating an unfortunate woman who has committed her destiny into the hands of such a wretch. The gallows, the whipping post, or the rack is none too good for such brutes. We have no sympathy with that class of maudlin humanitarians who are forever howling and crying over the just punishment of the poor criminal, which serves no other purpose than to encourage the vicious and evil minded in the commission of crime. What the world needs most is a law to prevent crime and to accomplish this we doubt if there will ever be one made superior to that given to Moses—"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." This law emanated from Heaven, and is the embodiment of wisdom and mercy. There is no law so merciful as one that prevents crime, and there will never be one equal to this to deter evil-doers. But we are told that Christ abrogated this law: Matthew v. xxxviii and xxxix. Not so. Christ was not speaking to legislators, neither did he design to convey the idea that this law was to be repealed. "Ye have heard it said, an eye for an eye, &c. But I say unto you, that ye resist not evil, but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him thy left also." It was individual conduct of which he was speaking, and not the punishment of crime by a legal process. Men in those days, as they do now, were in the habit of taking the law into their own hands, and if slapped upon the cheek they would smite back again. The foolish idea prevailed then, as now, that a man's honor was at stake if he failed to resent an insult, and it was to abolish this code of honor that the language above was used. This command completely upset the prevailing idea of what was chivalric and honorable. At the first glance we are ready to say

He was teaching lessons of cowardice, but the very reverse is true. None but the bravest man can keep this command, for it requires far more courage to turn the other cheek than it does to knock a man down. All his teachings were to keep and not to abrogate or break the law. It seems to be a hobby with nine-tenths of what is called the progressive element in this mushroom growth of the nineteenth century to consider all the former ages barbarians. In their estimation they are so far superior to every race that has gone before that they would not only abrogate old laws, but institute a new code of morals and throw away the old Bible. But we notice that those nations whose God is the Lord, and whose laws are nearest like the Code given to Moses, have the least crime and are the happiest peoples, the howlers to the contrary notwithstanding. These fanatics would make a great show of refinement and mercy in dealing out the penalties of the law. But to whom would he be merciful? Not to the poor helpless women, who are beaten and whipped like so many dogs, until their backs are lacerated and bloody, but to those inhuman brutes that do these things they would be very tender—but them in confinement and feed them at the expense of the hard working civil people. We say, give them stripe for stripe, until they learn what virtue there is in the lash. To those editors, divines, and law-makers, who imagined that Christ abrogated the law of retaliation, we would make this remark: If he intended to abolish the law by the text we have quoted (and there is no other text like it) by a parity of reasoning we must not only turn the other cheek when a man smites us on one, but if a man commits rape we must tell him to go and commit another rape—if he kills one man to go and kill another—if he whips his wife, tell him to whip another woman. The idea is insane, and yet ministers and people have adopted it. It is a sickly sentimentalism, mistaken for genuine piety. Piety is full of love and pity, but it loves the good and helps more than the vicious and evil.

AN ACT

For the better protection of the County Treasurers of Los Angeles, Sutter and Butte Counties.

SECTION 1. The County Judge and Auditor of the counties of Los Angeles, Sutter and Butte are hereby constituted a Board of Examiners of county funds held in safe keeping by the County Treasurers of their respective counties.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of said Boards as often as it may be deemed proper, to examine the books, accounts, and vouchers in the office of the County Treasurer, and to count the moneys in the Treasury belonging to the various funds; provided that said examination and counting shall take place at least once a month, without said Board giving the Treasurer any previous notice of the hour or day of said counting.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to permit the said Board of Examiners to examine the books and papers in his office, and permit the moneys in the Treasury to be counted whenever the said Board may wish to make such examination or counting, without delaying said examination or counting on any pretense whatever.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of said Board of Examiners to ascertain what amount of money may be needed to be paid out for the month next following their meeting, which amount shall be set aside. The balance not thus needed shall be put in bags and sealed up with an appropriate seal and not opened again by the Treasurer until the next meeting of the Board.

Sec. 5. Any violations of the provisions of this Act by the Treasurer shall be deemed a felony and upon conviction thereof in a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be sentenced to imprisonment in the State Prison for a term not exceeding three years and a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than twenty thousand dollars.

Sec. 6. The Board of Examiners shall make a statement under oath of the amount of moneys in the County Treasury as found by them after actually counting the same, and said statement shall be published in one newspaper published within the county. Said statement shall also be posted in the office of the County Clerk for public inspection.

Sec. 7. The Boards of Supervisors of their respective counties are hereby authorized to increase the bond of the County Treasurer when in their judgment the safety of the public moneys require it; but in no case shall the bond be increased to more than the greatest amount of money the Treasurer may have on hand at any time during the year.

Sec. 8. The Board of Supervisors may allow the said Board of Examiners such compensation as in their judgment shall be commensurate with the duties imposed upon them by the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 9. A failure on the part of the Board of Examiners to perform the duties required of them by this Act, shall be deemed a misdemeanor.

Sec. 10. It shall be the duty of the District Attorney to ascertain and report to the Grand Jury at every session whether or not the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 11. All Acts or parts of Acts in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 12. This Act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved March 20, 1876.
WILLIAM IRWIN,
Governor.

AN ACT

To make the Provisions of the Political Code concerning Highways applicable to San Bernardino County.

SECTION 1. The provisions of the Political Code concerning Highways, Bridges, Public Ferries and Toll Bridges, are hereby made applicable to San Bernardino County, and all special Acts in conflict with such provisions are hereby repealed.

Sec. 2. This Act shall take effect from and after its passage.
Approved February 15, 1876.
WILLIAM IRWIN,

Result of the Race.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25th.—At the two mile and repeat running race to-day, at the Bay District track, many people who desired to witness a really fair trial of the mettle of the four horses entered have looked forward to this event as likely to give them the opportunity. Among turfmen proper the race has been the chief topic of conversation for a fortnight past. The withdrawal of Rose from the race, appointment to some, but the insiders were generally aware that it was never intended that the horse should start. The race was essentially a betting one, and the result has left many a horse man minus a large bank account.

Last night at the pool selling Golden Gate was a hot favorite, bringing more than the others together, but to-day at the track Hock Hoeking was put to the fire and in the pools brought $400 against $250 for Gate, $170 for Revenue, Jr., and $200 for Chance. The confidence of betters was not diminished by the fact that the favorite had a weak and swollen ankle, which his owner, J. Cairns Sampson, made no effort to conceal. When the bell tapped the horses came to the wire in the following order: Hock Hoeking, ridden by Fred Carrillo, next to the pole, 114 pounds; Revenue, Jr., ridden by Perry McKinney, second, 114 pounds; Golden Gate, ridden by Wm. Delaney, third, 105 pounds; Chance, ridden by John Reavy, outside, 108 pounds. The track was in excellent condition, but the attendance meager, there being less than 500 present. A strong cold wind prevailed, making everybody uncomfortable, and there was no enthusiasm whatever.

John Wise, E. E. Eyre, and Captain Johnson of Los Angeles were judges. At three o'clock the horses got off well together, with Chance in the lead, Revenue second. At the half mile pole, Chance was still ahead under a strong pull, with Revenue close behind. Chance passed under the string on the first mile a length ahead of Revenue and three lengths ahead of Golden Gate and Hock Hoeking. He maintained the lead on the second mile and won the heat in 3:41, Golden Gate second and two lengths behind, Hock Hoeking third and Revenue last. After the first heat Hock Hoeking's condition was so bad that he dropped to the bottom of the pools, Chance selling at about 300 to 150 for all others.

Second heat—After two false starts the horses got off evenly with Revenue in the lead. At the half mile pole, Chance took lead, Golden Gate loping. The mare passed under the string a length ahead in 1:52. On the first quarter of the second mile Chance again took the lead and maintained it to the end of the heat, winning the heat and race by three lengths; time, 3:46. Hock Hoeking was second, Golden Gate third. Revenue was distanced, having sprung a tendon at the half mile pole in second mile and had to be led home.

Attorney General, with instructions of the Senate that he take the proper legal action to remove the cloud covering the title of the property unclouded in the deed made to said Ellis. The resolution was adopted. The Senate bill reducing fees and salaries in the county of San Diego came up in the Assembly messages, and on motion of Satterwhite, who took occasion to place himself upon the record as fulfilling the pledges made to his constituents, the substitute of the Assembly making the bill take effect in two years, was carried in by the Senate.

The bill creating the 22d Judicial District passed the Assembly to-day and has gone to the Governor. His Excellency is known to be strongly in favor of the bill, so it will be approved without further delay. This new Judicial District is composed of the counties of Marin, Mendocino and Sonoma, thereby dividing the 7th Judicial District, now composed of six of the largest and most populous counties of the State. The Judge of that district has been almost unable to discharge the onerous duties imposed upon him, and the action of the Legislature is recognized as a great relief. Ex-Supreme Judge Jackson Temple, of Sonoma, will in all likelihood receive the appointment of Judge of the district.

The Assembly bill fixing the compensation of the Assessor of Los Angeles county for the collection of tax on personal property was passed under a suspension of the rules.

Assembly—Upon re-assembling the House proceeded with the consideration of the Assembly bill in relation to public buildings. The bill making an appropriation of $110,000 for the construction of a building for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution was passed.

The bill providing for the completion of the branch prison at Folsom caused a debate which was only brought to a close by a motion calling the previous question. The ayes and noes were called and the bill was ordered engrossed by a vote of 31 ayes to 21 noes.

Scrivener introduced a resolution instructing our Senators and Representatives to advocate the passage of a law by Congress giving to the Central and Southern Pacific Railroads scrip on lands in lieu of lands now claimed by them under the acts of Congress granting lands in relation to public buildings. The bill making an appropriation of $110,000 for the construction of a building for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution was passed.

The Assembly bill amending section 1365 of the Code of Civil Procedure by allowing administrators to take precedence over creditors in the settlement of estates of deceased persons, was passed by a vote of 49 ayes to 39 noes, McConnell strongly advocating the passage of the bill.

The greater portion of the afternoon was taken up in the consideration of the bill making appropriations for improvements to the old and the erection of new State buildings. Pending the discussion the House took a recess until 7:30.

And speaking of a felicitous union of names, Captain Clubb has just married Miss Spear, at Darien, Georgia.
